

-36-

AbstractFilter with acoustically coupled resonators

- 5 A component operating with surface-proximal acoustic waves, in particular a filter with novel structure, is proposed in which interdigital transducers arranged in serial and parallel branches are acoustically coupled with one another in different configurations. The invention specifies a loss-poor filter with simultaneously
- 10 space-saving arrangement of the filter elements.

Fig. 1